During practical classes in physiotherapy, students are required to wear suitable clothing and bring their student card (ID) with them to all practical classes. The following are possible examples:

MEN: Shorts, black Speedos / running briefs, and T-shirt

WOMEN: Black running briefs, Halter neck sports top or singlet (that can be rolled up) that leaves the back, including the spine, exposed
Students are required to purchase a clinic uniform.

During the first 2-3 weeks of 1st semester, The Clothing Company will be contracted to come to the School to do fittings and take orders (only once per year). If hospital visits occur before the uniform is available, students should wear suitable professional attire. This is usually a plain collared white shirt and dress trousers. Enclosed footwear must be worn – sandals and joggers are not appropriate.

Shirts
Uniform shirt approved by the Division of Physiotherapy with a visible embroidered university logo/divisional ID; New uniform approved from 2010 onwards

- Blue/black micro check corporate shirt (short sleeve or ¾)
- Navy blue with white trim polo shirt

As these shirts are custom-made they should be purchased from the company (or bought second-hand from previous physiotherapy students).

Pants/Trousers
Students have been recommended to purchase the standard uniform pants/trousers. These consist of long leg (not touching the floor) plain navy or black pants/trousers. They should sit sufficiently high above the hip to enable appropriate freedom of movement without showing midriff, buttock flesh or underwear. NOTE: Hipsters, cargo pants and jeans are not acceptable.

In winter, a sleeveless vest (navy blue) may also be worn. They should be neatly fitting to avoid interference during treatment sessions.
