Research Integrity

The University of Queensland is committed to encouraging its researchers to conduct their research and scholarship with integrity. A combination of good policy, which is underpinned by the Australian Code for the Responsible Conduct of Research, and innovative training in the area of responsible research practices, provides a solid base for our researchers to conduct their high quality research with integrity.

http://www.uq.edu.au/research/rid/integrity-research